

Turn Photos into Quilts with Appliqué

Choosing the Proper Image

Since we have only a limited time together, I'd like you to choose a very simple subject matter for the workshop. Birds, small animals and colorful flowers work the best. Avoid busy backgrounds. In my process, the fabric is the key. The image is a single subject matter, and I add all the details with the fabrics I choose.

Please email a jpeg image prior to the workshop to: david@davidtaylorquilts.com for preapproval.

If you are having difficulty in finding a suitable image, here are some resources:

www.freedigitalphotos.net Low resolution images are free, high resolution images are about $10.

www.istockphoto.com Purchase credits and choose an image. These are not copyright free, but I have found if you are using the image for your own personal use, a license will not be required.

www.stevebyland.com Fine nature photography. Steve charges a small fee to download one of his perfect images. He has given permission to turn them into quilts.

www.gettyimages.com Choose "royalty free stock photos" from the main page. Getty Images are gorgeous, but more expensive than other sites.
